NOW AN ASSURED FACT THAT CONGRESSMAN TENER WILL BE CANDIDATE FOR GOVERNOR VICTIM OF STRAY BULLET IN CRITICAL CONDITION FROM THE RESULT OF WOUND

JUDGE J. F. TAYLOR OF WASHINGTON WILL PLACE HIS NAME IN NOMINATION

Details Arranged Regarding Special Train to Be Run to Harrisburg Leaving Charleroi Tuesday at 8:10 A. M.

PEOPLE FROM UP RIVER MUST BOARD TRAIN HERE

Whatever may have been said about the candidacy of Congressman John K. Tener for the Republican nomination for Governor, it can be definitely stated that he is in the running. His name will be presented before the convention at Harrisburg next week, and the assurances he has of support from various parts of the State puts him decidedly in the lead at this stage of the political game as the most available candidate in the field.

Although Mr. Tener has not exploited his boom for the gubernatorial nomination personally, his friends have been active for some time past, and when the sentiment in his favor became so pronounced he was besieged by his friends for an expression on the matter. This pressure became so strong that yesterday at Washington, D. C., where Mr. Tener is attending to his Congressional duties, he was virtually forced to give an expression. All that could be elicited from him, however, was that he considered it a great honor to be chosen as a candidate of the Republican party for Governor of Pennsylvania and that if his friends in convention nominated him, of course he would accept.

In spite of the attempted knob-boom in Pittsburgh this modest statement of Mr. Tener's caused great enthusiasm throughout the Western part of the State, including Pittsburgh and Allegheny county. A decided impetus was given to the Harrisburg excursion to the convention that is being promoted in Charleroi, and yesterday evening the wires were hot from up and down the river, and even from Pittsburgh asking for reservations in the special train of Pullmans that had been chartered. Donora is as enthusiastic, almost, as Charleroi, and will send a delegation of at least 40, while Monongahela will come up strong. Including Washington the delegation is expected to reach between 250 and 300.

The special train of Pullmans which will be made up at Pittsburgh, will run up to Charleroi from which point it will depart at 8:10 Tuesday morning. Special cars will leave Washington attached to the regular morning train which leaves the county seat for Pittsburgh at 7:57 Eastern time, and the departure for Harrisburg will be made at 10 o'clock sharp arriving at the State capital at 4:30 Tuesday afternoon.

As previously stated, arrangements have been made for Judge J. F. Taylor to make the nominating speech when Mr. Tener's name is presented to the convention. The latter has engaged ample headquarters at one of the leading hotels in Harrisburg, where he will be at home to his friends. Today enthusiasm is running high in Charleroi over the prospect that the town will have a winning candidate for Governor, and the delegation that will go to Harrisburg will lack for nothing in ardor and enthusiasm in favor of their townsman.

NEW PALACE CARS TO BE PLACED ON LOCAL LINE FIRST OF WEEK

New Schedule Adopted by the Pittsburg Railways to Be Put Into Effect with Beginning of New Service

The new palace passenger cars provided for the Pittsburg-Charleroi line by the Pittsburg Railways company will be placed on the Charleroi line Monday morning, and the old ones taken off for good. A new schedule has been adopted and will at the same time be put into force. The cars are the same in construction as those of the Washington line, and will seat with crowding 63 passengers. They contain both a ladies' and a smoking compartment, seating 47 and 16 persons respectively. The new schedule starts with the morning car which leaves Roscoe in the morning at 4:30 o'clock. Cars will be run every hour until 7:40 from then on, and beginning with that time half

GOOD ROADS AND THEIR MAKING DISCUSSED BY NOTED BUILDER

Session at Rices Landing Expected to be Productive of Much Good Among the Farmers

The good roads meeting held in the school hall at Rices Landing Thursday evening, was quite a success although not a large crowd was present to hear the address delivered by W. B. Thompson of Elmira, N. Y. Those present were well pleased with the talk.

Mr. Thompson was accompanied by several officials of the Pennsylvania railroad who had charge of the meeting. The Pennsylvania presented the borough of Rices Landing with a King split log drag.

Mr. Thompson in his address discussed the King split log drag which he favors as the best for keeping the roads in good repair. The speaker is not much in favor of the mounted or wheel scrapers and said that there was no place on the road for them. The drag which he favors is to be made out of a ten inch log of light wood seven feet in length. Oak is too heavy. The log is to be split in two and hitched so that when dragged it will stand at about 45 degrees.

JOHN McDONALD OF CHARLEROI SHOT WHILE DRIVING HOME FROM UP RIVER

Thought That Bullet Came from River Shore, or From the Belle Vernon Hill Across River

CHARLEROI POLICE ARE CONDUCTING INVESTIGATION

Driving quietly along near Beechwood Park on his way home from a trip up the river where he was delivering aerated water John McDonald, 31 years old of 631 Washington avenue was the victim last night of a bullet from an unknown source, which may have caused death. The bullet entered the right side of his face, just below the jaw bone, and passed through the jaw lodging in the tissues above the palate on the left side. McDonald was a driver for W. H. Calvert, the Fallowfield avenue water dealer.

On the seat with McDonald at the time of the accident were George Niver, sitting on the right side next the driver, and Charles Pollock sitting by the side of Niver. They were just making the turn in the road leading to Speers from the old Beechwood Park ball ground, when McDonald gave a start and uttered a cry. Blood began to spurt from the wound which had been made in the right side of the face. The boys asked McDonald what was the matter, thinking it was nose bleed or a hemorrhage, and he replied that some one had hit him with a piece of iron. He directed them to drive on and overtake a wagon not far ahead. They did this and then left, going to the river to wash the bloodstains from their faces and hands. The wagon ahead was one driven by Robert Elliott of the Charleroi brewery. Not much could be done, and McDonald drove on to Charleroi, although suffering greatly from the wound and from loss of blood. He started for the office of Dr. D. E. Sloan, but was unable to go up the steps to the physician's office alone. Upon entering he fell unconscious. An examination proved the wound to have been made by a bullet of a small calibre, and after dressing it as thoroughly as possible Dr. Sloan had the man sent home. Last night he was in a critical condition and was not improved this morning.

Chief of Police C. W. Albright was notified, and with his officers went to the scene of the occurrence. It was a first thought that the shooting had been done by some men who had been seen practicing at a target along the river shore, and this theory is still being investigated. Chief Albright is prone to believe, however, that the bullet came from the Belle Vernon hill, owing to the course the leaden missile took after entering the man's face. Belle Vernon authorities have been notified, and are investigating. McDonald is married and has four children, the oldest of which is eight years old. He has lived here for several years and before being employed by Mr. Calvert was a driver for Gotthelf Bros., Fallowfield avenue grocers. He is a brother-in-law of D. Gotthelf.

Claim Damages as Result of Fall From Car

John Pfile and Lizzie Pfile, his wife, of Fallowfield township have entered suit against the Webster, Monessen, Belle Vernon and Fayette City Street Railway company. Damages in the sum of $5,000, are claimed for personal injuries received by Mrs. Pfile in alighting from a car of the company, it being claimed the car was started before she had stepped entirely down onto the street.

EXAMINATIONS HELD BY SUPERINTENDENT

County Superintendent L. R. Crumrine examined a class of 69 applicants for teachers' certificates at the Third ward school building in Washington Thursday. Thirty-two of this number are endeavoring to secure professional certificates, which entitles the successful applicant to teach for three years without another examination, and 37 applicants were for provisional, or one year certificates.

Misses Gertrude Hankins and Mollie Rhyssinger of Uniontown are spending a few days in Charleroi, the guests of the former's cousin, Miss Jennie Hormell of Prospect avenue.

OLDEST WOMAN DIES AT HOME IN CANONSBURG

The oldest resident of Washington county, Mrs. Margaret McCorbey, colored, died at her home at Canonsburg Thursday night following an illness of several weeks of general debility.

According to records found in an old Bible Mrs. McCorbey was born during the month of July 1799. This record would make her age almost 111 years. She was born on what was the farm of Col. Morgan, but which is now occupied by the Morganza Reform school buildings. She was a slave for many years being owned by the Moragan family. For many years she acted as maid and nurse to families in that section. She was familiarly known as "Aunt Margaret" and was known by practically everybody in that section of Washington county. She was the widow of Barney McCorbey who also lived until he was over 90 years of age.

No Damages Allowed

In the suit of Mary E. Sellars against the borough of North Charleroi the viewers have filed their report in which they say that the plaintiff has sustained no damages.

In the Running

That Congressman John K. Tener of Charleroi will be a leading candidate for the Republican nomination for Governor at the State convention at Harrisburg next week in now a foregone conclusion. At this writing party sentiment is strong in his favor, and there is every indication that by reason of location, political standing, integrity and ability he is the most available candidate of his party whose nomination would result in a triumphant victory at the polls at the general election.

It is not necessary to exploit Mr. Tener's personal qualifications for the nomination for Governor. These are so well known that there is not the slightest question in regard to the matter. Suffice it to say that his nomination would materially add to the standing and prestige of Charleroi, and for that reason every loyal citizen should aid in every possible manner the sentiment that will make his nomination to this exalted office possible. These who have political friends in other parts of the State can invoke their personal aid, while all who can should go to Harrisburg to add to the volume of home support that will be accorded a most worthy citizen. Now is the time to get busy. With Mr. Tener's nomination for Governor Charleroi's standing will be advanced many points in the estimation of the outside public.

Died A-Borning

By the failure of the Allegheny county delegation to give it a sufficiently strong indorsement, the Knox-Governorship boom went glimmering yesterday, when at a caucus of the delegates in Pittsburgh but 22 out of the 38 delegates pledged themselves to support Secretary Knox at the Republican State convention at Harrisburg next week. This failure of unanimous action in Mr. Knox's favor materially strengthens Congressman John K. Tener's chances for the nomination.

While it was known that Secretary Knox was strongly averse to accepting the nomination for Governor, it was thought that should a unanimous call be extended to him that he could not resist. This unanimous call was lacking, however, and it is positively known that Secretary Knox will not permit his name to come before the convention. He is too valuable a representative in the higher diplomatic service to waste time in State politics. Therefore it is the consensus of opinion that the Knox boom has collapsed before it was fairly started, and nothing about it reflects in any manner upon the standing and statesmanship of one of Pennsylvania's most illustrious sons.

A hanging may be somewhat of an amusement, when properly conducted, but for real excitement a prize fight, it seems to us, would have it beat a mile.

A Simple Object Lesson

It is to be hoped that the object lesson in road improvement which the engineers of the Pennsylvania Railroad company are giving to the farmers of this community will bear fruit. That so simple a remedy as dragging a split log over dirt roads has so long been ignored on the part of local road authorities seems incredible. The split log drag does the business, however, and for that reason expert civil engineers are endeavoring to show to farmers the advantages of a simple process that one of their backwoods brethren discovered years ago. There is no excuse for a dirt road being impassable and hard to travel in dry weather. That most of the roads in this section are in this execrable condition is an everlasting disgrace to those charged with their keeping. Lack of funds may be an excuse for bad roads in the spring and fall, but when the local officials will not even drag a split log over rough roads in the summer, it is time they should be indicted for maintaining a nuisance.

ELECTRIC SPARKS

It has been suggested that the rose be used as an emblem for fathers' day, but in some cases, the four-o'clock would be more appropriate.

An aeroplane habit does not necessarily have to be a dress. It might be a complaint of too much money.

It is safe neither for a preacher or a distiller to own an automobile. If a former owns one, his congregation gets the idea into their heads that their pastor is becoming a too worldly individual, and if the latter, it is an evidence of too much opulence, and efforts are made to have his license cut down.

The street car conductors do not fancy the three-cent fare because it means the making of too much change.

No one except the political writer for the Pittsburgh Dispatch seems to be able to quite fathom just what Secretary Knox wants with the Governorship.

Some brands of chewing gum are better than others but we always did hate the kind the girls in the choir chew during service.

The Donora News makes the bold statement that the "Monessen Merchants had an outing at Cascade Park and took 25 carloads of people." Attributing that the statement is essentially correct, it must be inferred that the cars are very small.

It is probably some disappointment to the moving picture men that they are having so much trouble locating that big scrap.

Crime and the Telephone

From the beginning to the end of a transaction in crime the telephone comes into use, serving both sides with equal fidelity, says a writer in Appleton's Magazine. The thief uses it to determine which house he may safely rob. The man next door sees the burglar and calls up the police. The police arrive, catch the burglar and telephone for the Black Maria to take him to jail. The thief telephones a lawyer to defend him. The lawyer telephones for the bondsman to bail out his client, and the banker telephones the sheriff that the bondsman's check is good. When the day of trial comes the clerk of the court, being a kind gentleman, telephones to the burglar's lawyer; the sheriff telephones witnesses to be present. When the burglar is convicted and sentenced the sheriff uses long distance to tell the warden of the penitentiary when his prisoner will be delivered. After that the telephone line is kept hot by influential politicians petitioning the governor for a pardon.

College Foolishness Barred

"John," said the farmer, "I've given you the best education the college had in the shop."
"Yes, sir."
"Never stood back for expense?"
"Never."
"You speak six languages?"
"Perfectly."
"So far, so good. Now, listen. Don't swear at the mule in Greek. Don't use no Latin terms to him, an' fling no French his way. Use the Georgy dialect that you an' the mule wuz raised to. It's my opinion that the mule won't stand no college foolishness."—Atlanta Constitution.

Judge Hoar's Retort

Judge Hoar and General Butler were opponents in a case of a new trial. General Butler quoted, "Eye for eye, skin for skin, tooth for tooth—yes, all that a man hath—will he give for his life."

To which Judge Hoar replied, "Yes, the devil quoted that once before in a motion for a new trial."

ATTACKED BY SHARKS

A Whale's Terrific Battle With a School of Thrashers.

AN AWE INSPIRING CONTEST.

The Unequal Fight Was Ended by the Death of the Courageous Mammal, Who Was Torn to Shreds by Her Ferocious Assaultants.

Early one morning while engaged in building new quarters for the light-house keeper at Breaksea Island, near Rottnest, Western Australia, the contractor and his men noticed a bull whale, with a cow and calf, passing the island some distance off. They watched them with interest for awhile, noting the immense size of the two parents and the methodical regularity with which columns of water rose from their blowholes and then resumed their labors.

An hour or so later—about 9 o'clock—to be exact—the men were startled by an extraordinary noise, apparently coming from the eastern end of the island, a noise unlike anything they had ever heard before. Dropping their tools and starting toward the east, they beheld such a sight as it falls to the lot of few people to witness. There, not 500 yards from the shore, was being waged a battle to the death—a fight between the great cow whale previously seen and a school of thrasher sharks. The calf was swimming about distractedly, but the old bull had disappeared, having basely deserted his family at the first approach of danger.

The sharks, as though acting in accordance with some preconcerted plan, had completely surrounded the two whales and, apparently realizing that nothing was to be feared from the calf, concentrated all their efforts upon her. Again and again they charged in upon her, their jaws snapping, tearing at her mighty sides until the sea was red with blood. Meanwhile the cow lashed her tail furiously, hurling up sheets of reddened water and occasionally crashing down with terrific force upon one of her voracious opponents. Maddened with pain and rage, she dashed this way and that, but the sharks hung to her side with a persistence and ferocity that made the fascinated onlookers shudder. Now and again the wildly lashing tail would catch one of the assaultants, driving it beneath the waves—no doubt killed or disabled—but the remainder rushed in undismayed, tearing viciously at the mammal's bleeding flanks or butting her with the force of battering rams.

Presently the spellbound spectators realized two facts—first, that the calf had disappeared in the melee and, second, that the tortured whale was undoubtedly becoming weaker. It was obvious that the unequal struggle could have only one ending. Still, however, she fought on doggedly, winning admiration and sympathy by her exhibition of hopeless courage. Altering her tactics, by a supreme effort she hurled her whole great bulk clear of the water for a moment, and the fascinated onlookers beheld the sharks hanging from various parts of her gleaming body by their serrated teeth. Then down she went again with a crash like thunder, and for an instant whale and sharks were buried amid masses of foam, heavily colored with the poor mammal's lifeblood. Rising again, she essayed another change of plan, making for the rocks and desperately striving to rub off the clinging sharks against their edges. But the thrashers were equal to the occasion. While those on the outside maintained their grip, the others dived under their enemy and charged her anew, tearing at the whale's side in an ecstasy of ferocity that was bloodcurdling to witness.

More and more feeble grew the whale's struggles, and at last, to the heartfelt relief of the spectators, for her death fight had been terrible to behold, the great body turned over and sank beneath the red tinted water. The unequal battle was over, having lasted from 9 o'clock until now, as awe inspiring a contest as man was ever privileged to witness. The men went back to their work greatly impressed by the unique spectacle, and expressions of sympathy for the whale were heard on every side.

Forty-eight hours afterward the whale's body, which had in the meantime become distended with gas, rose to the surface and exploded with a roar like a miniature powder magazine, causing the startled people to rush to the shore to discover what had happened. On examination of the remains it was discovered that every shred of the outer flesh of the whale had been torn off by the sharks, who had doubtless gone off to repeat their tactics upon some other hapless leviathan.—Victor Pitt-Kethley in St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

What He Sold

One of the witnesses in a case in a Dublin court was asked, "Did you sell Major Studdert a horse?" "No, sor."
"Did your father sell Major Studdert a horse?" "No, sor."
"Did your grandfather sell him a horse?" "No, sor."
"Well, then, did any member of your family sell Major Studdert anything?" "Yes, sor." "Who did, then?" "I did, sor." "And what did you sell Major Studdert?" "I sold him a mare, sor." The counsel sat down, and the court roared.

Politeness is like an air cushion—there's nothing in it, but it eases the joints wonderfully.

CATHOLICS DEFEAT BAPTISTS THROUGH RALLY IN FOURTH

The Catholics came down solid on the Baptists in one inning last night, the former and walked away with the game by the score of 8 to 2. The Baptists had everything their way until that juncture with two big tallies, but starting off with Haywood's base on balls and Mossoux's single, things began to happen, which did not let up until the team had batted around and then scoring six runs. A score came in the fifth for them and one in the sixth. The Baptists got one in the second inning and one in the fourth. The score:

WOMEN'S WOES

Charleroi Women are Finding Relief at Last.

It does seem that women have more than a fair share of the aches and pains that afflict humanity; they must "keep up," must attend to duties in spite of constantly aching backs or headaches, dizzy spells, bearing down pains; they must stoop over, when to stoop means torture. They must walk and bend and work with racking pains and many aches from kidney pills. Kidneys cause more suffering than any other organ of the body. Keep the kidneys well and health is easily maintained. Read of a remedy for kidneys only that helps and cures the kidneys and is endorsed by people you know.

Mrs. William Stopp, 214 Second street, Charleroi, Pa., says: "I have used Doan's Kidney Pills off and on for five years and consider them to be unequalled for kidney diseases. I suffered for some time from back ache and was also subject to headaches and dizzy spells. The kidney secretions were scanty and often contained a sediment. Doan's Kidney Pills were finally brought to my attention and procuring a box at Piper Bros. Drug Store, I began their use. They benefited me greatly and I have since kept a supply on hand."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

Mrs. Harry C. Daly entertained a party of friends at her home at Gibsonton yesterday afternoon. Ten tables of bridge whist and fancy work were features of entertainment of what proved to be a most enjoyable affair. The house was handsomely decorated and dainty refreshments served. Guests were present from Charleroi, Belle Vernon, Monongahela, Monessen, Pittsburgh and other points.

The Joke on the Jockey.

A few years ago a famous jockey was engaged to ride the favorite in an important race. On the way to the post he found himself centering alongside a rank outsider, the mount of a stable boy who had only just commenced riding.

"You'll have to be careful with that brute B.," he remarked. "I've ridden him before, and you'll never be able to hold him."

B. thanked the crack for the hint and said that he would "do his best." Halfway through the race the outsider and another were in front, with the favorite close behind. Fancying that the others were in difficulties, the rider of the favorite shouted:

"Pull out, B., and let me through. I've got the race in hand."

The crack was mistaken, however. Looking back, the stable boy replied, with a grin:

"I would, but I can't hold him!"

With which the novice let his horse have his head and shot away, the easiest of winners, to the chagrin of the crack, who pushed second.

The Reason.

Discontented Wife—Several of the men whom I refused when I married you are richer than you are now. The Husband—That's why. —Illustrated Bits.

A Fixed Law.

"You are positive this happened on Tuesday?" demanded counsel.

"I am," said the witness.

"Sure it was Tuesday?"

"Yes."

"Why not Thursday or Friday?"

"Because we had chicken that day. Chicken day is Tuesday where I heard."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

The Cook's Declaration.

The cook picked up an egg. She looked at it doubtfully.

"It's bad," she said.

She dropped it.

"It's worse!" she hastily added.—Exchange.

Not Acting.

Actor—All the newspapers say my impersonation of Caesar last night was absolutely real. Rival—Perhaps that's so. Everybody I've met says it certainly wasn't acting.

Preserve your just relations to other men. Their misconduct does not affect your duties.—Epictetus

Scorched.

Mr. Crimsonbeak—What in the world is the matter with this shirt? Mrs. Crimsonbeak—Oh, I guess the girl boiled it a little too long, dear; that's all. Mr. Crimsonbeak—Looks to me as if she had fried it.—Yonkers Statesman.

UNCONSCIOUS WORRY.

Born of the Habit of Taking Things Too Seriously.

A great many people worry unconsciously, says O. S. Mardon in Success Magazine. They don't understand why they are so tired in the morning, why their sleep was so disturbed and troubled.

This mental disturbance is often caused by the habit of taking things too seriously, carrying too great a weight of responsibility. Everywhere we see people who take life too seriously. Most of us are like the motor man who not only starts and stops the car and tries to keep from running over people, but also feels tremendous anxiety and responsibility about the motive power.

One of the most helpful lessons life can impart is that which shows us how to do our work as well as it can be done and then let principle take care of the result. How often have we been amazed to find things come out much better than we anticipated; to find that the great unseen power that governs our lives through a wilderness of trial and tribulation into the open has guided our life ship through the fogs of difficulties and of sorrow, through storms of hardships and losses, safely into port.

The pilot does not lose heart when he cannot see his way. He turns to that mysterious compass which sees as plainly in the fog and guides as faithfully in the tempests as when the sea is like glass. We are in touch with a power greater than any compass, greater than any pilot, a power that can extricate us from the most desperate situation.

THE JOY OF EATING.

It Is Courtied to the Fullest Extent in Berlin.

The Germans in a good many ways get more happiness out of life as they go along than we do. Eating is an innocent pleasure, and they eat oftener and more. No one is required to get up to breakfast. There is never any formal family breakfast. Coffee and rolls are sent to your room, or you can go into the dining room and get them when you choose. Not having had breakfast enough, a German spends all the rest of the day in making up for it. At 10:30 or 11 every body takes lunch. The laborers along the streets all stop to eat. And in general it may be said that in all places and at all hours it is good form, and a matter of course to draw out a substantial sandwich of rye bread and raw ham and go to munching. Women do it at the opera. Students do it at the university between classes. Dinner comes at 2 o'clock. About 3 the maid brings to your room coffee and rolls and perhaps cake. At 8 p. m. is supper. Those who are going out to any entertainment may have supper at 6 or 7. But there is always a long enough intermission at the opera or theater for those who are disposed to take lunch, and most persons are disposed.

There are innumerable restaurants all about the city, and tens of thousands of people eat there, sitting at little tables in the open air right by the sidewalk. After the day with all its cares and meals is over it is a favorite custom to go to a restaurant and sit there for half the night eating and drinking and listening to music. No city in the world hears so much good music so cheaply as Berlin. And everybody who is anybody knows enough about music to talk with some intelligence.—Berlin Letter to Springfield (Mass.) Republican.

Do Crows recognize Sunday.

A large number of crows were foraging for food not long ago close to the house of a farmer in West Virginia. They were unusually bold, as though hunger had driven them to forget their usual shyness and distrust of their natural enemies—men.

Two of them alighted close to the back door and picked up the crumbs with an apparent assurance of their safety not easily accounted for. The farmer was telling a neighbor about the tameness of the birds, and the latter remarked:

"You won't see them foolhardy tomorrow."

"Why not tomorrow as well as today?"

"Because today is Sunday, and these crows know it. They know that one day in seven they are not popped at by boys and men. They can count crows, and they know that on the seventh day they are exempt from persecution."

"I once lived near a swamp where thousands of crows made their roosting place, and early in the morning they used to start for the mountains for their food. I was often out with my gun trying to get a shot at them. Week days they were shy of me, and I seldom got a shot at them, but on Sunday morning it was different. Then they would fly low and close to my house, their wings almost flapping the ridgeboards of house and barns. Do crows know when it is Sunday? Of course they do."—Exchange.

He Didn't Bet.

"A man in my county," said a Kansas congressman, "was always anxious to bet on his game of checkers. One time he was about to play a game for $10 with a fellow called Three Fingers Jack. Suddenly one of his friends exclaimed:

"Don't bet, Charlie. Don't you know that fellow wore off two fingers playing checkers? That's why he's called Three Fingers Jack."

"That settled it. The bet was never made. A man who had worn off two fingers by brushing them up and down the checkerboard was too much for my friend."—Kansas City Journal.

A Bitter Disappointment.

"When I was in Paris," remarked the collector of curios, "I discovered in a bookstall a volume which I knew at first glance to be of extraordinary value. I could scarcely believe my good luck. Breathless, I inquired the price of the dealer. Just think of it! I could have had that treasure for a song!"

"Well, why didn't you get it?"

"Never could sing a note in my life." cried the collector, bursting into tears.—New York Times.

Planning Ahead.

"Theater parties," said the prospective bride, "will cost about $200 annually, flowers as much more and bouquets, say, $100. Certainly we can marry on $600 a year."

"And have a snug surplus," suggested her dad, "for such incidentals as grub and clothes and house rent."—Philadelphia Bulletin.

Still Possible.

"Uncle, can't I be a pirate when I grow up?"

"Sure you can, son. What do you want to pirate—books or plays?"—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Preparing For a Siege.

Wife—The last time I asked you to give me some money you said you couldn't because the cashier was sick. Now you say it's the treasurer. Husband—I know it. He caught it from the cashier, and now I'm afraid the secretary will get it.—Life.

Salt Codfish Omelet.

Soak a piece of salt codfish about six inches square overnight. Split six crackers and lay them in cold water, just enough to cover them. In the morning pick the fish fine and mix well with the soaked crackers, three well beaten eggs and a piece of butter the size of an egg, also salt and pepper. Take one quart of milk and add to it one dessertspoonful of flour. Boil five minutes and pour over in the dish in which it is to be baked. Bake twenty minutes.—Boston Post.

How It Is Done.

"I don't see how you can write so many!"

"Alleged witticisms?" interrupted the press humorist. "Oh, I get an idea occasionally, and every idea is good for several hundred jokes."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Compensation For Injury.

Compensation for injury in the middle ages was in its infancy. The volume of the accounts of the lord high treasurer of Scotland, just published, tells incidentally of payments made to sufferers in the siege of Glasgow in 1544. To a carter who lost his horse $25 was paid, but $10.56 sufficed for a woman whose husband was killed, a like sum being given to the owners of two broken drums.

A Safe Rule.

"Is one apt to get bruised in learning to ride the bicycle?"

"Not if you make it a rule to stop when the bicycle stops."

"What do you mean?"

"Some riders keep on going."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Anchor Him.

"I was at a reception with a certain young lady the other night," said a man who always tells the truth, "and her father was there too. He doesn't think much of me, and he followed us about from room to room—wouldn't let us get out of his sight for a minute. Well, I knew the old man was an awful tightwad, so I thought up a scheme. I carelessly dropped a half dollar on the floor while he was looking. He moved over and put his foot on it and never stirred until the party broke up. Meanwhile daughter and I bent it and enjoyed ourselves."—Cleveland Leader.

Why He Was Popular.

"How do you know your husband is not a good poker player?"

"Because," answered young Mrs. Torkins, "no good poker player could be so popular as he is with other poker players."—Washington Star.

Waked Them Up.

Dr. Hans Richter, the famous conductor, while supervising a rehearsal in a London theater once was much annoyed at the calm way the players were taking the impassioned music.

"Gentlemen, gentlemen," said he, suddenly stopping short, "you're all playing like married men, not like lovers."—Westminster Gazette.

Men's Suit Buying in the New Clothing Store

There is just a little difference in this New Clothing Store than in most stores. Not alone in those handsome new clothing cabinets, nor is it the fact that every garment is new, and fresh, direct from the maker; but we find that folks have accepted our invitation to come and "please feel free to come and look, to take note, to make yourselves at home, without obligation to buy." That was the invitation, is now, and will continue to be the invitation---we'll please you with these clothes or it's no sale.

No matter what price you desire to pay we have the right suits here. That's the kind we bought and because we think so well of them---we are in earnest when we say "they must be right or money back."

SLEEPING SICKNESS

VIVIDLY PICTURED AT PALACE THEATRE

One of the greatest scientific films ever produced in life motion pictures was shown at the Palace Theatre last night. This was microscopic exhibitions of the blood of victims of the "Sleeping Sickness," a plague that effects animals and mankind alike in the heart of darkest Africa. The pictures showed the microscopic views of a drop of blood taken from an inoculated rat. These showed the progress of the disease, until the parasites had outgrown and almost completely absorbed the active blood corpuscles, at which stage the victim dies. The sleeping sickness is caused by the bite of the tsetse fly, which is thought to absorb its venom from the blood of crocodiles. The picture was a most interesting exhibition of the wonders of the microscope and progress of medical science.

NOW AN ASSURED FACT THAT CONGRESSMAN TENER WILL BE CANDIDATE FOR GOVERNOR VICTIM OF STRAY BULLET IN CRITICAL CONDITION FROM THE RESULT OF WOUND

JUDGE J. F. TAYLOR OF WASHINGTON WILL PLACE HIS NAME IN NOMINATION

Details Arranged Regarding Special Train to Be Run to Harrisburg Leaving Charleroi Tuesday at 8:10 A. M.

PEOPLE FROM UP RIVER MUST BOARD TRAIN HERE

Whatever may have been said about the candidacy of Congressman John K. Tener for the Republican nomination for Governor, it can be definitely stated that he is in the running. His name will be presented before the convention at Harrisburg next week, and the assurances he has of support from various parts of the State puts him decidedly in the lead at this stage of the political game as the most available candidate in the field.

Although Mr. Tener has not exploited his boom for the gubernatorial nomination personally, his friends have been active for some time past, and when the sentiment in his favor became so pronounced he was besieged by his friends for an expression on the matter. This pressure became so strong that yesterday at Washington, D. C., where Mr. Tener is attending to his Congressional duties, he was virtually forced to give an expression. All that could be elicited from him, however, was that he considered it a great honor to be chosen as a candidate of the Republican party for Governor of Pennsylvania and that if his friends in convention nominated him, of course he would accept.

In spite of the attempted Knox boom in Pittsburgh this modest statement of Mr. Tener's caused great enthusiasm throughout the Western part of the State, including Pittsburgh and Allegheny county. A decided impetus was given to the Harrisburg excursion to the convention that is being promoted in Charleroi, and yesterday evening the wires were hot from up and down the river, and even from Pittsburgh asking for reservations in the special train of Pullmans that had been chartered. Donora is as enthusiastic, almost, as Charleroi, and will send a delegation of at least 40, while Monongahela will come up strong. Including Washington the delegation is expected to reach between 250 and 300.

The special train of Pullmans which will be made up at Pittsburgh, will run up to Charleroi from which point it will depart at 8:10 Tuesday morning. Special cars will leave Washington attached to the regular morning train which leaves the county seat for Pittsburgh at 7:57 Eastern time, and the departure for Harrisburg will be made at 10 o'clock sharp arriving at the State capital at 4:30 Tuesday afternoon.

As previously stated, arrangements have been made for Judge J. F. Taylor to make the nominating speech when Mr. Tener's name is presented to the convention. The latter has engaged ample headquarters at one of the leading hotels in Harrisburg, where he will be at home to his friends. Today enthusiasm is running high in Charleroi over the prospect that the town will have a winning candidate for Governor, and the delegation that will go to Harrisburg will lack for nothing in ardor and enthusiasm in favor of their townsman.

GOOD ROADS AND THEIR MAKING DISCUSSED BY NOTED BUILDER

Session at Rices Landing Expected to be Productive of Much Good Among the Farmers

The good roads meeting held in the school hall at Rices Landing Thursday evening, was quite a success although not a large crowd was present to hear the address delivered by W. B. Thompson of Elmira, N. Y. Those present were well pleased with the talk.

Mr. Thompson was accompanied by several officials of the Pennsylvania railroad who had charge of the meeting. The Pennsylvania presented the borough of Rices Landing with a King split log drag.

Mr. Thompson in his address discussed the King split log drag which he favors as the best for keeping the roads in good repair. The speaker is not much in favor of the mounted or wheel scrapers and said that there was no place on the road for them.

The drag which he favors is to be made out of a ten inch log of light wood seven feet in length. Oak is too heavy. The log is to be split in two and hitched so that when dragged it will stand at about 45 degrees.

The log is to be dragged so the flat face will be towards the team and one edge to the ground. The drag complete can be constructed for about $80.

Mr. Thompson says with the use of the drag that roads can be kept in good condition for an average of about $5 per mile, counting 3c per hour for man and team.

If the drag is used on the road after each rain the dirt will soon become packed very hard and water cannot soak into the ground but will run off and in this way the dirt will keep dry. Frosts during the winter will not affect the roads so much either.

Mr. Thompson during his talk scored the supervisors for permitting the bumpers to be constructed across the roads on the hills. "He said all cross drains should be placed underground. He said in New York, his home State, no such bumpers were used. He also said that snow was not shoveled from the roads during the winter but that a roller was used to pack the snow.

JOHN McDONALD OF CHARLEROI SHOT WHILE DRIVING HOME FROM UP RIVER

CHARLEROI POLICE ARE CONDUCTING INVESTIGATION

Driving quietly along near Beechwood Park on his way home from a trip up the river where he was delivering aerated water John McDonald, 31 years old of 631 Washington avenue was the victim last night of a bullet from an unknown source, which may have caused death. The bullet entered the right side of his face, just below the jaw bone, and passed through the jaw lodging in the tissues above the palate on the left side. McDonald was a driver for W. H. Calvert, the Fallowfield avenue aerated water dealer.

On the seat with McDonald at the time of the accident were George Niver, sitting on the right side next to the driver, and Charles Pollock sitting by the side of Niver. They were just making the turn in the road leading to Speers from the old Beechwood Park ball ground, when McDonald gave a start and uttered a cry. Blood began to spurt from the wound which had been made in the right side of the face. The boys asked McDonald what was the matter, thinking it was his nose bleed or a hemorrhage, and he replied that some one had hit him with a piece of iron. He directed them to drive on and overtake a wagon not far ahead. They did this and then left, going to the river to wash the bloodstains from their faces and hands. The wagon ahead was one driven by Robert Elliott of the Charleroi brewery. Not much could be done, and McDonald drove on to Charleroi, although suffering greatly from the wound and from loss of blood. He started for the office of Dr. D. E. Sloan, but was unable to go up the steps to the physician's office alone. Upon entering he fell unconscious. An examination proved the wound to have been made by a bullet of a small calibre, and after dressing it as thoroughly as possible Dr. Sloan had the man sent home. Last night he was in a critical condition and was not improved this morning.

Chief of Police C. W. Albright was notified, and with his officers went to the scene of the occurrence. It was a first thought that the shooting had been done by some men who had been seen practicing at a target along the river shore, and this theory is still being investigated. Chief Albright is prone to believe, however, that the bullet came from the Belle Vernon hill, owing to the course the leaden missile took after entering the man's face. Belle Vernon authorities have been notified, and are investigating. McDonald is married and has four children, the oldest of which is eight years. He has lived here for several years and before being employed by Mr. Calvert was a driver for Gottheld Bros., Fallowfield avenue grocers. He is a brother-in-law of D. Gottheld.

CLAIM DAMAGES AS RESULT OF FALL FROM CAR OLDEST WOMAN DIES AT HOME IN CANONSBURG

John Pile and Lizzie Pile, his wife, of Fallowfield township have entered suit against the Webster, Monessen, Belle Vernon and Fayette City Street Railway company. Damages in the sum of $5,000, are claimed for personal injuries received by Mrs. Pile in alighting from a car of the company, it being claimed the car was started before she had stepped entirely down onto the street.

EXAMINATIONS HELD BY SUPERINTENDENT

County Superintendent L. R. Crumrine examined a class of 69 applicants for teachers' certificates at the Third ward school building in Washington Thursday. Thirty-two of this number are endeavoring to secure professional certificates, which entitles the successful applicant to teach for three years without another examination, and 37 applicants were for provisional, or one year certificates.

Misses Gertrude Hankins and Mollie Rhysinger of Uniontown are spending a few days in Charleroi, the guests of the former's cousin, Miss Jennie Hormell of Prospect avenue.

No Damages Allowed. In the suit of Mary E. Sellers against the borough of North Charleroi the viewers have filed their report in which they say that the plaintiff has sustained no damages.

In the Running

That Congressman John K. Tener of Charleroi will be a leading candidate for the Republican nomination for Governor at the State convention at Harrisburg next week in now a foregone conclusion. At this writing party sentiment is strong in his favor, and there is every indication that by reason of location, political standing, integrity and ability he is the most available candidate of his party whose nomination would result in a triumphant victory at the polls at the general election.

It is not necessary to exploit Mr. Tener's personal qualifications for the nomination for Governor. These are so well known that there is not the slightest question in regard to the matter. Suffice it to say that his nomination would materially add to the standing and prestige of Charleroi, and for that reason every loyal citizen should aid in every possible manner the sentiment that will make his nomination to this exalted office possible. These who have political friends in other parts of the State, can make their personal aid, while all who can should go to Harrisburg to add to the volume of home support that will be accorded a most worthy citizen. Now is the time to get busy. With Mr. Tener's nomination for Governor Charleroi's standing will be advanced many points in the estimation of the outside public.

Died A-Borning

By the failure of the Allegheny county delegation to give it a sufficiently strong indorsement, the Knox Governorship boom went glimmering yesterday, when at a caucus of the delegates in Pittsburgh but 22 out of the 38 delegates pledged themselves to support Secretary Knox at the Republican State convention at Harrisburg next week. This failure of unanimous action in Mr. Knox's favor materially strengthens Congressman John K. Tener's chances for the nomination.

While it was known that Secretary Knox was strongly averse to accepting the nomination for Governor, it was thought that should a unanimous call be extended to him that he could not resist. This unanimous call was lacking, however, and it is positively known that Secretary Knox will not permit his name to come before the convention. He is too valuable a representative in the higher diplomatic service to waste time in State politics. Therefore it is the consensus of opinion that the Knox boom has collapsed before it was fully started, and nothing about it reflects in any manner upon the standing and status of illustrious sons.

A hanging may be somewhat of an amusement, when properly conducted, but for real excitement a prize fight, it seems to us, would have it beat a mile.

A Simple Object Lesson

It is to be hoped that the object lesson in road improvement which the engineers of the Pennsylvania Railroad company are giving to the farmers of this community will bear fruit. That so simple a remedy as dragging a split log over dirt roads has so long been ingored on the part of local road authorities seems incredible.

The split log drag does the business, however, and for that reason expert civil engineers are endeavoring to show to farmers the advantages of a simple process that one of their backwoods brethren discovered years ago.

There is no excuse for a dirt road being impassable and hard to travel in dry weather. That most of the roads in this section are in this execrable condition is an everlasting disgrace to those charged with their keeping. Lack of funds may be an excuse for bad roads in the spring and fall, but when the local officials will not even drag a split log over rough roads in the summer, it is time they should be indicted for maintaining a nuisance.

ELECTRIC SPARKS

It has been suggested that the rose be used as an emblem for fathers' day, but in some cases, the four o'clock would be more appropriate.

An aeroplane habit does not necessarily have to be a dress. It might be a complaint of too much money.

It is safe neither for a preacher or a distiller to own an automobile. If a former owns one, his congregation gets the idea into their heads that their pastor is becoming a too worldly individual, and if the latter, it is an evidence of too much opulence, and efforts are made to have his license cut down.

The street car conductors do not fancy the three-cent fare because it means the making of too much change.

No one except the political writer for the Pittsburgh Dispatch seems to be able to quite fathom just what Secretary Knox wants with the Governorship.

Some brands of chewing gum are better than others but we always did hate the kind the girls in the choir chew during service.

The Donora News makes the bold statement that the "Monessen Merchants had an outing at Cascade Park and took 25 carloads of people." Attributing that the statement is essentially correct, it must be inferred that the cars are very small.

It is probably some disappointment to the moving picture men that they are having so much trouble locating that big scrap.

Crime and the Telephone

From the beginning to the end of a transaction in crime the telephone comes into use, serving both sides with equal fidelity, says a writer in Appleton's Magazine. The thief uses it to determine which house he may safely rob. The man next door sees the burglar and calls up the police. The police arrive, catch the burglar and telephone for the Black Maria to take him to jail. The thief telephones a lawyer to defend him. The lawyer telephones for the bondsman to bail out his client, and the banker telephones the sheriff that the bondsman's check is good. When the day of trial comes the clerk of the court, being a kind gentleman, telephones to the burglar's lawyer; the sheriff telephones witnesses to be present. When the burglar is convicted and sentenced the sheriff uses long distance to tell the warden of the penitentiary when his prisoner will be delivered. After that the telephone line is kept hot by influential politicians petitioning the governor for a pardon.

College Foolishness Barred

"John," said the farmer, "I've given you the best education the college had in the shop."
"Yes, sir."
"Never stood back for expense?"
"Never."
"You speak six languages?"
"Perfectly."
"So far, so good. Now, listen. Don't swear at the mule in Greek. Don't use no Latin terms to him, an' din't no French his way. Use the Georgy dialect that you an' the mule wuz raised to. It's my opinion that the mule woud stand no college foolishness."—Atlanta Constitution.

Judge Hoar's Retort

Judge Hoar and General Butler were opponents in a case of a new trial. General Butler quoted, "Eye for eye, said for said, tooth for tooth—yea, all that a man hath—will he give for his life."

To which Judge Hoar replied, "Yes, the devil quoted that once before in a motion for a new trial."

ATTACKED BY SHARKS

A Whale's Terrific Battle With a School of Thrashers.

AN AWE INSPIRING CONTEST.

The Unequal Fight Was Ended by the Death of the Courageous Mammal, Who Was Torn to Shreds by Her Ferocious Assaultants.

Early one morning, while engaged in building new quarters for the light-house keeper at Breaksea Island, near Rottnest, Western Australia, the contractor and his men noticed a bull whale, with a cow and calf, passing the island some distance off. They watched them with interest for awhile, noting the immense size of the two parents and the methodical regularity with which columns of water rose from their blowholes and then resumed their labors.

An hour or so later—about 9 o'clock, to be exact—the men were startled by a commotion on the eastern end of the island, a noise unlike anything they had ever heard before. Dropping their tools and staring toward the east, they beheld such a sight as it falls to the lot of few people to witness. There, not 500 yards from the shore, was being waged a battle to the death—a fight between the great cow whale previously seen and a school of thrasher sharks. The calf was swimming about distractedly, but the old bull had disappeared, having barely deserted his family at the first approach of danger.

The sharks, as though acting in accordance with some preconcerted plan, had completely surrounded the two whales and apparently realizing that nothing was to be feared from the calf, concentrated all their efforts upon the cow. Again and again they charged in upon her, their jaws snapping, tearing at her mighty sides until the sea was red with blood. Meanwhile the cow lashed her tail furiously, hurling up sheets of reddened water and occasionally crushing down with terrific force upon one of her voracious opponents. Maddened with pain and rage, she dashed this way and that, but the sharks hung to her side with a persistence and ferocity that made the fascinated onlookers shudder. Now and again the wildly lashing tail would catch one of the assaultants, driving it beneath the waves—no doubt killed or disabled—but the remainder rushed in undismayed, tearing viciously at the mammal's bleeding flanks or butting her with the force of battering rams.

Presently the spellbound spectators realized two facts—first, that the calf had disappeared in the melee and, second, that the tortured whale was undoubtedly becoming weaker. It was obvious that the unequal struggle could have only one ending. Still, however, she fought on doggedly, winning admiration and sympathy by her exhibition of hopeless courage. Altering her tactics, by a supreme effort she buried her whole great bulk clear of the water for a moment, and the fascinated onlookers beheld the sharks hanging from various parts of her gleaming body by their serrated teeth. Then down she went again with a crash like thunder, and for an instant whale and sharks were buried amid masses of foam, heavily colored with the poor mammal's lifeblood. Rising again, she essayed another change of plan, making for the rocks and desperately striving to rub off the clinging sharks against their edges. But the thrashers were equal to the occasion. While those on the outside maintained their grip, the others dived under their enemy and charged at her anew, tearing at the whale's side in an ecstasy of ferocity that was bloodcurdling to witness.

More and more feeble grew the whale's struggles, and at last, to the heartfelt relief of the spectators, her death fight had been terrible to behold, the great body turned over and sank beneath the red tinted water. The unequal battle was over, having lasted from 9 o'clock until noon, as awe inspiring a contest as man was ever privileged to witness. The men went back to their work greatly impressed by the unique spectacle, and expressions of sympathy for the whale were heard on every side.

Forty-eight hours afterward the whale's body, which had in the meantime become distended with gas, rose to the surface and exploded with a roar like a miniature powder magazine, causing the startled people to rush to the shore to discover what had happened. On examination of the remains it was discovered that every shred of the outer flesh of the whale had been torn off by the sharks, who had doubtless gone off to repeat their tactics upon some other hapless victim.—Victor Pitt-Kethley in St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

What He Sold

One of the witnesses in a case in a Dublin court was asked, "Did you sell Major Studdert a horse?" "No, sir."
"Did you father sell Major Studdert a horse?" "No, sir."
"Did your grandfather sell him a horse?" "No, sir."
"Well, then did any member of your family sell Major Studdert anything?" "Yes, sir." "Who did, then?" "I did, sir." "And what did you sell Major Studdert?" "I sold him a mare, sir." The counsel sat down, and the court roared.

Politeness is like an air cushion—there's nothing in it, but it eases the joints wonderfully.

A score came in the fifth for them and one in the sixth. The Baptists got one in the second inning and one in the fourth. The score:

WOMEN'S WOES

Charleroi Women are Finding Relief at Last.

It does seem that women have more than a fair share of the aches and pains that afflict humanity; they must "keep up," must attend to duties in spite of constantly aching backs or headaches, dizzy spells, bearing down pains; they must stoop over, when to stoop means torture. They must walk and bend and work with racking pains and many aches from kidney pills. Kidneys cause more suffering than any other organ of the body. Keep the kidneys well and health is easily maintained. Read of a remedy for kidneys only that helps and cures the kidneys and is endorsed by people you know.

Mrs. William Stopp, 214 Second street, Charleroi, Pa., says: I have used Doan's Kidney Pills off and on for five years and consider them to be unequalled for kidney diseases. I suffered for some time from back ache and was also subject to headaches and dizzy spells. The kidney secretions were scanty and often contained a sediment. Doan's Kidney Pills were finally brought to my attention and procuring a box at Piper Bros. Drug Store, I began their use. They benefited me greatly and I have since kept a supply on hand.

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

Mrs. Harry C. Daly entertained a party of friends at her home at Gibston yesterday afternoon. Ten tables of bridge whist and fancy work were features of entertainment of what proved to be a most enjoyable affair. The house was handsomely decorated and dainty refreshments served. Guests were present from Charleroi, Belle Vernon, Monongahela, Monessen, Pittsburg and other points.

UNCONSCIOUS WORRY.

Born of the Habit of Taking Things Too Seriously.

A great many people worry unconsciously, says O. S. Mott in Success Magazine. They don't understand why they are so tired in the morning, why their sleep was so disturbed and troubled.

This mental disturbance is often caused by the habit of taking things too seriously, carrying too great a weight of responsibility. Everywhere we see people who take life too seriously. Most of us are like the motor man who not only starts and stops the car and tries to keep from running over people but also feels tremendous anxiety and responsibility about the motive power.

One of the most beautiful lessons life can impart is that which shows us how to do our work as well as it can be done and then let pitiable take care of the result. How often have we been amazed to find things come out much better than we anticipated; to find that the great unseen power that governs our lives through a wilderness of trial and tribulation into the open has guided our life ship through the fogs of difficulties and of sorrow, through storms of hardship and lesser, safely into port.

The pilot does not lose heart when he cannot see his way. He turns to that mysterious compass which sees as plainly in fog and guides as faithfully in the tempests as when the sea is like glass. We are in touch with a power greater than any compass greater than any pilot, a power that can extricate us from the most desperate situation.

THE JOY OF EATING.

It Is Courted to the Fullest Extent in Berlin.

The Germans in a good many ways get more happiness out of life as they go along than we do. Eating is an innocent pleasure, and they eat often and more. No one is required to get up to breakfast. There is never any formal family breakfast. Coffee and rolls are sent to your room, or you can go into the dining room and get them when you choose. Not having had breakfast enough, a German spends all the rest of the day in making up for it. At 10.30 or 11 everybody takes lunch. The laborers along the streets all stop to eat. And in general it may be said that in all places and at all hours it is good form and a matter of course to draw out a substantial sandwich of rye bread and raw ham and go to munching. Women do it at the opera. Students do it at the university between classes. Dinner comes at 2 o'clock. About the maid brings to your room coffee and rolls and perhaps cake. At 5 p.m. is supper. Those who are going out to any entertainment may have supper at 6 or 7. But there is always a long enough intermission at the opera or theater for those who are disposed to take lunch, and most persons are disposed.

There are innumerable restaurants all about the city, and tens of thousands of people eat there sitting at little tables in the open air near by the sidewalk. After the day with all its cares and meals is over it is a favorite custom to go to a restaurant and sit there for half the night eating and drinking and listening to music. No city in the world hears so much good music so cheaply as Berlin. And everybody who is anybody knows enough about music to talk with some intelligence.—Berlin Letter to Springfield (Mass.) Republican.

Do Crows Recognize Sunday.

A large number of crows were foraging for food not long ago close to the house of a farmer in West Virginia. They were unusually bold, as though hunger had driven them to forget their usual shyness and distrust of their natural enemies—men.

Two of them alighted close to the back door and picked up the crumbs with an apparent assurance of their safety not easily accounted for. The farmer was telling a neighbor about the tameness of the birds, and the latter remarked:

"You won't see them foolhardy tomorrow."

"Why not tomorrow as well as today?"

"Because today is Sunday, and these crows know it. They know that one day in seven they are not popped at by boys and men. They can count crows can, and they know that on the seventh day they are exempt from persecution."

I once lived near a swamp where thousands of crows made their roosting place, and early in the morning they used to start for the mountains for their food. I was often out with my gun trying to get a shot at them. Week days they were shy of me, and I seldom got a shot at them, but on Sunday morning it was different. Then they would fly low and close to my house, their wings almost flapping the ridgeboards of house and barns. Do crows know when it is Sunday? Of course they do.—Exchange.

A Fixed Law.

"You are positive this happened on Tuesday?" demanded counsel.

"I am," said the witness.

"Sure it was Tuesday?"

"Yes."

"Why not Thursday or Friday?"

"Because we had chicken that day. Chicken day is Tuesday where I heard."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

The Cook's Declaration.

The cook picked up an egg. She looked at it doubtfully.

"It's bad," she said.

She dropped it.

"It's worse!" she hastily added.—Exchange.

Not Acting.

Actor—All the newspapers say my impersonation of Caesar last night was absolutely real. Rival—Perhaps that's so. Everybody I've met says it certainly wasn't acting.

Preserve your just relations to other men. Their misconduct does not affect your duties.—Epictetus

Scorched.

Mr. Crimmonbeak—What in the world is the matter with this shirt? Mrs. Crimmonbeak—Oh, I guess the girl boiled it a little too long, dear; that's all. Mr. Crimmonbeak—Looks to me as if she had fried it.—Yonkers Statesman.

The Joke on the Jockey.

A few years ago a famous jockey was engaged to ride the favorite in an important race. On the way to the post he found himself cantering alongside a rank outsider, the mount of a stable boy, who had only just commenced riding.

"You'll have to be careful with that brute B," he remarked. "I've ridden him before, and you'll never be able to hold him."

B. thanked the crack for the hint and said that he would "do his best."

Halfway through the race the outsider and another were in front with the favorite close behind. Fancying that the others were in difficulties, the rider of the favorite shouted:

"Pull out, B, and let me through. I've got the race in hand."

The crack was mistaken, however. Looking back, the stable boy replied, with a grin:

"I would, but I can't hold him!"

With which the novice let his horse have his head and shot away, the easiest of winners, to the chagrin of the crack, who finished second.

The Reason.

Discontented Wife—Several of the men whom I refused when I married you are richer than you are now.

The Husband—That's why.—Illustrated Bits.

You cannot drive purchases to any particular store. You can win them by convincing arguments.

A convincing argument attractively displayed in the advertising columns of this paper will reach the eyes of hundreds of buyers in this community.

MORE BANK TALK

Did it ever occur to you why all good business men keep a checking account with a bank? We'll tell you. It enables them to keep their funds in a more secure place than the office safe. It gives them a better standing in the business world. It enables them to pay their bills by a check, the returned check being an undisputed receipt.

Individuals find a checking account very convenient and a source of saving. Money in one's pocket is often spent on the spur of the moment, while one is disposed to think twice before drawing on his balance in the bank. GET THE SAVING HABIT. Lay up for a rainy day. Start a bank account with

Men's Suit Buying in the New Clothing Store

There is just a little difference in this New Clothing Store than in most stores. Not alone in those handsome new clothing cabinets, nor is it the fact that every garment is new, and fresh, direct from the maker; but we find that folks have accepted our invitation to come and "please feel free to come and look, to take note, to make yourselves at home, without obligation to buy." That was the invitation, is now, and will continue to be the invitation—we'll please you with these clothes or it's no sale.

No matter what price you desire to pay we have the right suits here. That's the kind we bought and because we think so well of them—we are in earnest when we say "they must be right or money back."

We sell clothes that we can stand back of for

SLEEPING SICKNESS VIVIDLY PICTURED AT PALACE THEATRE

One of the greatest scientific films ever produced in life motion pictures was shown at the Palace Theatre last night. This was microscopic exhibitions of the blood of victims of the "Sleeping Sickness," a plague that effects animals and mankind alike in the heart of darkest Africa. The pictures showed the microscopic views of a drop of blood taken from an inoculated rat. These showed the progress of the disease, until the parasites had outgrown and almost completely absorbed the active blood corpuscles, at which stage the victim dies. The sleeping sickness is caused by the bite of the tsetse fly, which is thought to absorb its venom from the blood of crocodiles. The picture was a most interesting exhibition of the wonders of the microscope and progress of medical science.
